

WHERE TO PLAY · HILTON HEAD ISLAND, SC

The 5 Best Golf Courses on Hilton Head Island

From the PGA Tour's own island stage to oceanfront fairways locals never tire of — the courses worth building your trip around.

WHY HILTON HEAD GOLF?

With more than 30 courses packed onto one barrier island, Hilton Head has been a golf destination since the 1960s — and it's hosted PGA Tour golf every spring since 1969.

We've narrowed it down to five: the courses that define the island, from the most photographed finishing hole in golf to the quiet, lagoon-lined test visitors often miss.

SECTION ONE

Oceanfront & Iconic

1

Harbour Town Golf Links The Showstopper

PETE DYE · RESORT COURSE · BEST FOR: BUCKET-LIST GOLF

The island's signature design and home of the RBC Heritage, the PGA Tour's spring stop on Hilton Head since 1969. The par-4 18th plays toward Calibogue Sound with the red-and-white lighthouse rising behind the green — one of the most photographed finishing holes in golf.

> INSIDER TIP Public, but tee times go fast — book 60–90 days out, and expect a premium during Heritage week each April.

2

Atlantic Dunes The Modern Classic

DAVIS LOVE III · RESORT COURSE · BEST FOR: SCENERY

Davis Love III's full rebuild of the historic Ocean Course, finished in 2016 and named National Golf Course of the Year. Thousands of native plants and exposed dunes frame a closing stretch that runs beachfront past 15 and 16.

> INSIDER TIP Play it late in the day — the dune light and ocean breeze on the closing holes are worth timing your round around.

3

Robert Trent Jones Course The Coastal Classic

ROBERT TRENT JONES · RESORT COURSE · BEST FOR: OCEAN VIEWS

Palmetto Dunes' oceanfront course, where the par-5 10th green sits closer to the Atlantic than any other hole on the island. It's the most open of the resort's three courses, which means the sea breeze plays a bigger role with every hole.

> INSIDER TIP Wind builds over the back nine — club up on approach shots once you turn toward the water.

SECTION TWO

Championship Challenges

4 George Fazio Course The Tight Test

GEORGE FAZIO · RESORT COURSE · BEST FOR: SHOT-MAKERS

The island's only par-70 course, and one of its toughest tee-to-green tests. Small greens, undulating fairways, and two closing par 5s punish anything off-line — the par-3 17th plays over water to a well-guarded green.

> INSIDER TIP Out-of-bounds runs along the left on most holes — favor a slight fade off the tee if you've got one.

5 Oyster Reef Golf Club The Hidden Gem

REES JONES · SEMI-PRIVATE · BEST FOR: FEWER CROWDS

A Rees Jones design woven through 190 acres of lagoons and maritime forest, once ranked among the Top 25 new U.S. courses the year it opened. The par-3 6th looks out toward Port Royal Sound — one of the prettiest views on the island.

> INSIDER TIP Semi-private, but open to visitors — call ahead for a tee time. It's typically quieter than the resort courses.
